us that (1) we can "stretch" our present authorities to achieve the desired results or, (2) in certain cases general legislation covering all Government agencies would afford the necessary relief. The Council concurred in these recommendations and requested the Chairman to appoint a task force to consider the problem of accelerated retirement. (The Chairman subsequently appointed Messrs. [REDACTED] to this task force.)

5. The Council discussed the problem of enlisting support of the highest order in order that our legislative program might achieve some measure of acceptance, and suggested that, if appropriate and when the time was ripe, the Director or key officials in the Agency might meet to discuss our needs with members of the Killian Committee, the Special Assistant to the President for Personnel Management, the Civil Service Commissioners, key officials in the Bureau of the Budget, members of Congress and probably the President himself.

6. The Council adjourned at 5:00 p.m.
